REVOLUTION: Art & Technology Art Exhibit

Opening Reception: Friday, April 4 from 7-10 pm

Show Dates: April 4 - 27, 2014

Alexandria, VA (released: February 20, 2014) - REVOLUTION: Art and Technology, a far-reaching all-member, all-media art show that explores artists' relationship with technology, opens Friday, April 4, 2014 with a reception from 7-10 pm at Del Ray Artisans gallery.

Love it or hate it, technology is revolutionizing the art world. Curators Connie Saunders and Ann Krug challenged Del Ray Artisans members to explore their relationship with technology in 2- or 3-D artworks. Come see computer-created and digitally manipulated art, 3-D art made from electronic parts, and other varied interpretations of feelings towards technology expressed in painting, collage, mixed media, and more. The show runs April 4–27, 2014.

Please also join us for these other REVOLUTION-related events at the gallery:

- The Thomas Crown Affair Movie Night on Sunday, April 6 at 7 pm: The worlds of art and technology collide when modern technology is breached and a priceless Monet painting from the Metropolitan Museum of Art is stolen.
- Round Table Discussion: Using Technology to Promote Art on Saturday, April 12 from 10-12 pm: The Internet provides artists access to order materials, learn new techniques, collaborate with peers, and promote their artwork. Artists will share experiences using the Web and watch an Internet demonstration.

The events are free, but a $3-5 donation is suggested and appreciated. Please register in advance at: www.TheDelRayArtisans.org/programs/
